

Colbacchini, Antonio. I Bororos Orientali "Orarimugudoge" del Matto Grosso (Brasile). Contributi Scientifici delle Missioni Salesiane del Venerabile Don Bosco, 1. Torino: Società Editrice Internazionale (1925?).

Pp. xii, 251, 210; many photos and text figures; maps; errata.

University of California (Berkeley): F2519 .1 M3C6.

[This source, by a Salesian missionary, is a general volume on the culture of the Eastern Bororo. It is divided into five parts: ethnographic notes, myths, grammar, texts and religious songs. Since a revised version of this book (4:Colbacchini & Albisetti) has been translated for this file, this source has not been processed.]

Surveyed in 1965

Colbacchini, Antonio. À Luz do Cruzeiro do Sul. Os Índios Bororos-Orari do Planalto Oriental de Mato Grosso e a Missão Salesiana. "Impressões" / In the Light of the Southern Cross. The Bororo-Orari Indians of the Eastern Plateau of the Mato Grosso and at the Salesian Mission. "Impressions." / São Paulo: Escolas Profissionais Salesianas, 1939.

Pp. viii, 75; many photos; 2 maps.

Library of Congress: F2520.1.B75C65.

[This is an account of Father Colbacchini's travels in this part of the Mato Grosso, describing briefly the life of the Bororo and, even more briefly, his meetings with the Caraja, Chavante and Cayamo. Since most of the material is present in other sources by Father Colbacchini and for the Bororo file, this book has not been processed.]

Surveyed in 1965